QUEEN FOR A DAY

"HEY, Mac, whod'ya think we should choose for prom queen?" Ritchie Adams asked.

Robert Macabee plunged himself in deep thought for a few moments. Finally he looked at his side-kick and said,

"I don't know."

"Well, I think Joy's my choice," Ritchie replied, beaming and expanding his chest until it looked like a mountain under his sweater.

"You're biased. Joy's a cute girl and she's your steady, but the prom queen is supposed to be the most beautiful girl in the senior class," Mac replied.

"Joy is the most beautiful girl in the whole world! And what's more, she'll be elected. Wait and see." Ritchie plunged his hands in his jeans and looked determined.

"Don't be over - confident. There are a lot of pretty girls in the senior class this year. Gosh, and that reminds me that I don't have a date for the dance yet. What's more I don't know who to ask. I can't dance," Mac groaned. "Who wants to go to a dance with a guy that can't dance, I'd like to know."

"You could learn between now and then," Ritchie suggested.

"Naw. I've tried a lot of times. My feet just won't cooperate with each other. Last year at the Junior Hop it didn't matter 'cause I was in bed with a broken leg. But what's my excuse gonna be this year? I'm president of the class and I'd hafta go even if I was dead!"

"Gee, you're right, Mac. That presents quite a problem." Ritchie scratched his head and looked pensive. "Well, don't give up yet. We'll think of something."

The next day in algebra class, Ritchie got the brainstorm of his life. It was when he looked at Meg Ryerson. Meg was undoubtedly a raving beauty, the logical choice for prom queen. It suddenly occurred to him that the queen of the prom would be sitting on her throne most of the time and her escort would not be expected to dance very much, if at all. Meg had to be chosen queen and Mac had to ask her as his date. That would settle everything.

Ritchie presented his plan to Mac at lunch.

"Sure, sure, just like that. What're you going to do, stuff the ballot-box? And another thing, how do you know Meg hasn't been asked already, and if she hasn't, how do you know she'll go with me?"

"Just leave everything to me."

"Yeah, I've done that before and ended up in the hospital. No thanks, pal. I'll find a less imaginative solution."

The voting for the prom queen took place on Monday morning. Mac watched Ritchie every second, fearing that he had conceived some diabolical plot that would get both of them expelled from school.

Meg Ryerson was chosen queen by an overwhelming majority. Her breathtaking raven-haired beauty and warm personality had made her the three-to-one favorite among the students.

After the noise had quieted down and her supporters drifted off to go to classes, Ritchie pushed Mac up to her to pop the question.

"Meg, I—I, may I escort your highness to the prom?"

"I've been waiting, Mac, and wondering if you were ever going to ask me," she replied.

"Gee, Meg. Gee!" was all Mac could manage to say.

"See, what did I tell you. Just leave it up to a genius like me and you'll never go wrong," Ritchie said and slapped Mac on the back as they walked off.

Peter Doran passed them in the hall and beckoned Mac off to one side.

"Who're you taking to the prom?" he queried.

"Meg Ryerson," Mac replied smiling broadly.

"Boy, are you lucky! All the guys were bidding. She's not only beautiful, but can she dance! She's even danced professionally —in recitals and stuff!" Peter left Mac standing dumbstruck and ambled down the hall whistling the new popular tune, "I Danced With A Dream".

"Oh, no! This is the end!" Mac groaned. Then realizing

Ritchie was wholly responsible for his terrible predicament, he turned with a wild gleam in his eye, thinking of some fiendish crime. But Ritchie had disappeared quietly down the hall and out of the building.

When Mac saw Ritchie the next day he collared him.

"Genius, huh? Brainstorm, huh? I ought to make mincemeat of you, except that won't get me out of this mess. Alright, genius, think of something and think of something fast," Mac threatened.

"O.K., but give me a little time. Honest, Mac, I didn't know she was a dancer. She hasn't ever mentioned it to anybody."

"Sometimes I wonder if you were born stupid or you just grew up that way. Not only is she a dancer, but I found out yesterday she's so good, she's won a scholarship to study in New York next year. And I can't even play hop scotch in time to a dance tune. Great. This is just great! Think? How can you think with those rocks you've got in your head instead of brains. But believe me, you'd better try."

"Gee, Mac, what are we gonna do?" Ritchie said looking like a lost pup.

Four days passed. It was Friday. The prom was Saturday and still Ritchie hadn't thought of something to get his best friend out of his embarrassing situation.

"Maybe you could tell her you were sick or somethin' and break the date?" Ritchie suggested mournfully.

"Think again. If you suppose I'm going to muff my chance to have a date with Meg, you're crazier than I thought," Mac retorted.

Then Saturday morning Mac was roused from his bed by a telephone call. It was Meg.

"Oh, Mac," she cried. "I had a dancing class a half hour ago and sprained my ankle. I can't be prom queen. I can't dance!" she wailed.

Mac felt like shouting, but he was sure Meg would never understand, so he stifled his joy and consoled her.

"Does it hurt a lot, Meg?" he asked, really concerned that she might be in pain.

"No, not a lot, but I—can't—dance!" she replied tearfully. "You'd better ask somebody else if it's not too late."

"Of course not. Have the doctor bandage it so it won't hurt, wipe your tears, put on that dress I've heard about and I'll pick you up at 7:00 o'clock. Those are orders, private." he said softly.

"Oh, Mac, you're wonderful!" Meg almost cooed.

Mac's heart thumped in his chest a few times, he swallowed hard, and said good-by.

Meg sat on the throne during the entire evening, smiling happily and looking so beautiful everyone stopped occasionally and just stared. Mac stood by her side, not leaving her for a moment, and toward the end of the evening, held her hand tightly in his. As the clock struck midnight and the orchestra played a waltz he leaned over and said,

"Meg, I have a confession to make."

"Yes, Mac," she said with her face close to his.

"I—I think you're the most beautiful girl in the whole world," he said, kissing her gently. He decided to tell her he couldn't dance, later.

Skinny Girls Don't Have OOMPH!

It takes those extra lbs. of solid flesh to "bring out" your natural curves

If you're otherwise healthy but skinny, scrawny, rundown and lbs. underweight, try correcting this common mistake in eating.

THERE are three essential substances that many thin, scrawny and under nourished girls may fail to get in sufficient quantity from the food they eat These substances are Vitamin B_1, calcium phosphate and iron. If, like thousands of others, you are underweight without organic cause . . . never seem to gain a pound . . are so thin that you look gangling and gawky from insufficient amounts of these precious elements, don't get discouraged.

You may find that by correcting this simple mistake in eating you can easily add firm solid flesh . . . extra alluring pounds that help bring out those natural eye-catching curves. A simple and easy way is to try the amazing new product called Numal that supplies, in significant amounts, the Vitamin B_1, calcium phosphate and iron needed in the daily diet. Plus a food that in itself is a great help in adding extra pounds.

Take two heaping teaspoonful of Numal 3 times a day. It is pleasant, assimilable and easy to take. You will get the equivalent in Vitamin B_1 content of 34 cakes of average moist baker's yeast . . . the iron equivalent of 15 pounds of tomatoes or 12⅔ pounds of spinach or 9 pounds of boiled beets...and the calcium equivalent of ⅘ths pint of fresh cow's milk, the phosphorus content of 1 glass.

Remember, if you don't get a sufficient quantity of Vitamin B_1 in your daily diet, you may suffer loss of appetite. And without sufficient iron, the element that helps build rich red blood, you may be rundown, pale, weak and listless. You need calcium phosphate for sound teeth and sturdy bones

SKINNY MEN ARE NOT ATTRACTIVE EITHER

. . a skinny, scrawny body is no asset in social or business life. Give NUMAL a chance to build you up, put firm flesh on you.

If loss of weight persists see your doctor

Numal Must Please You or No Cost

So if you are skinny, gangling and bony from lack of these precious nutrients, don't wait any longer Get Numal today. You will want those extra pounds that "bring out" your natural eye-catching curves. Take Numal faithfully for a week. See if you can't actually feel the difference . . . gain weight and better color. If after this short period you honestly don't feel Numal has benefited you, just return the bottle for a complete refund of your money. Numal costs but a few cents a day to use.
